

A COUNTRY JOURNEY GUIDE

OMAN / DHOFAR / KHAREEF

Monsoon Magic

A 7-day journey into Dhofar when it is most alive.

JOURNEY NOTES / 02

MONSOON / MAGIC

Monsoon Magic is a 7-day journey into Dhofar when its most alive.

For one season a year, Salalah becomes something completely different: mountains vanish into mist, waterfalls start flowing, the coastline turns wild and moody, and the desert softens into green.

This is Janoob's take on Khareef: slow roads, raw camps, hidden beaches, mountain trails, local food,
and the kind of weather that makes you forget you're still in Oman.

day two

yalla lets go

sunday 27th

West coast warm up

We begin the trip with an easy introduction to Salalah's coastline and Khareef atmosphere.

We head towards Dahariz Beach for a slow first stop by the sea, fresh coconut on the beach, and a relaxed welcome to the south. From there, we explore Ayn Khor, continue towards the abandoned ship area, and make our way to Mughsail Beach for dramatic cliffs, sea views, and the first taste of Dhofar's wild west coast.

By late afternoon, we continue towards Afoul Beach, where we set up camp for our first night under the stars.

ROUTE CHAPTER

DAY THREE / FOUR / THE WILD SOUTH

JOURNEY NOTES / 07

day three / wild south

monday 28th

We go deeper into the southern coastline, where the roads get wilder and the views become more dramatic.

We start with Shaat Viewpoint, one of the most scenic coastal lookouts in the area, with cliffs dropping into the Indian Ocean and mist rolling through the mountains during Khareef. From there, we explore the Eftalqout area, stop at hidden coves and viewpoints, and take our time along the coast with short walks, photos, and picnic-style stops.

Later in the day, we descend towards Fazayah, one of Dhofar's most beautiful wild beaches. We set up camp by the coast and enjoy a slower evening surrounded by cliffs, ocean, and open sky.

day four

cliffs & clouds

tuesday 29th

Movement & Nature

We keep Day 4 focused on movement, nature, and a slower rhythm.

After breakfast at camp, we head out for the Ayn Rob hike, making our way through one of Dhofar's greener, quieter areas. The hike gives the group a chance to experience the monsoon landscape on foot, away from the main tourist stops and deeper into the wild side of Salalah.

After the hike, we return towards Fazayah for a second night on the coast. The afternoon is kept light, with time to rest, explore the beach area, enjoy camp, and take in an epic sunset by the sea.

ROUTE CHAPTER

DAY FIVE / SIX / LIFE ON SAMHAN

JOURNEY NOTES / 09

day five / northbound

wednesday 30th

On Day 5, we leave the southern part behind and head further north towards a different side of Salalah.

We visit Ayn Athum, one of the seasonal Khareef waterfall areas, before continuing to Wadi Darbat, one of Dhofar's most iconic valleys.

Expect green hills, water, camels, and the full monsoon atmosphere.

From there, we continue towards the ancient baobab trees, a rare and surreal landscape that feels completely different from anywhere else.

By late afternoon, we make our way towards the coast and set up camp in the beach dunes for a raw Janoob-style night between sand, sea, and mountains.

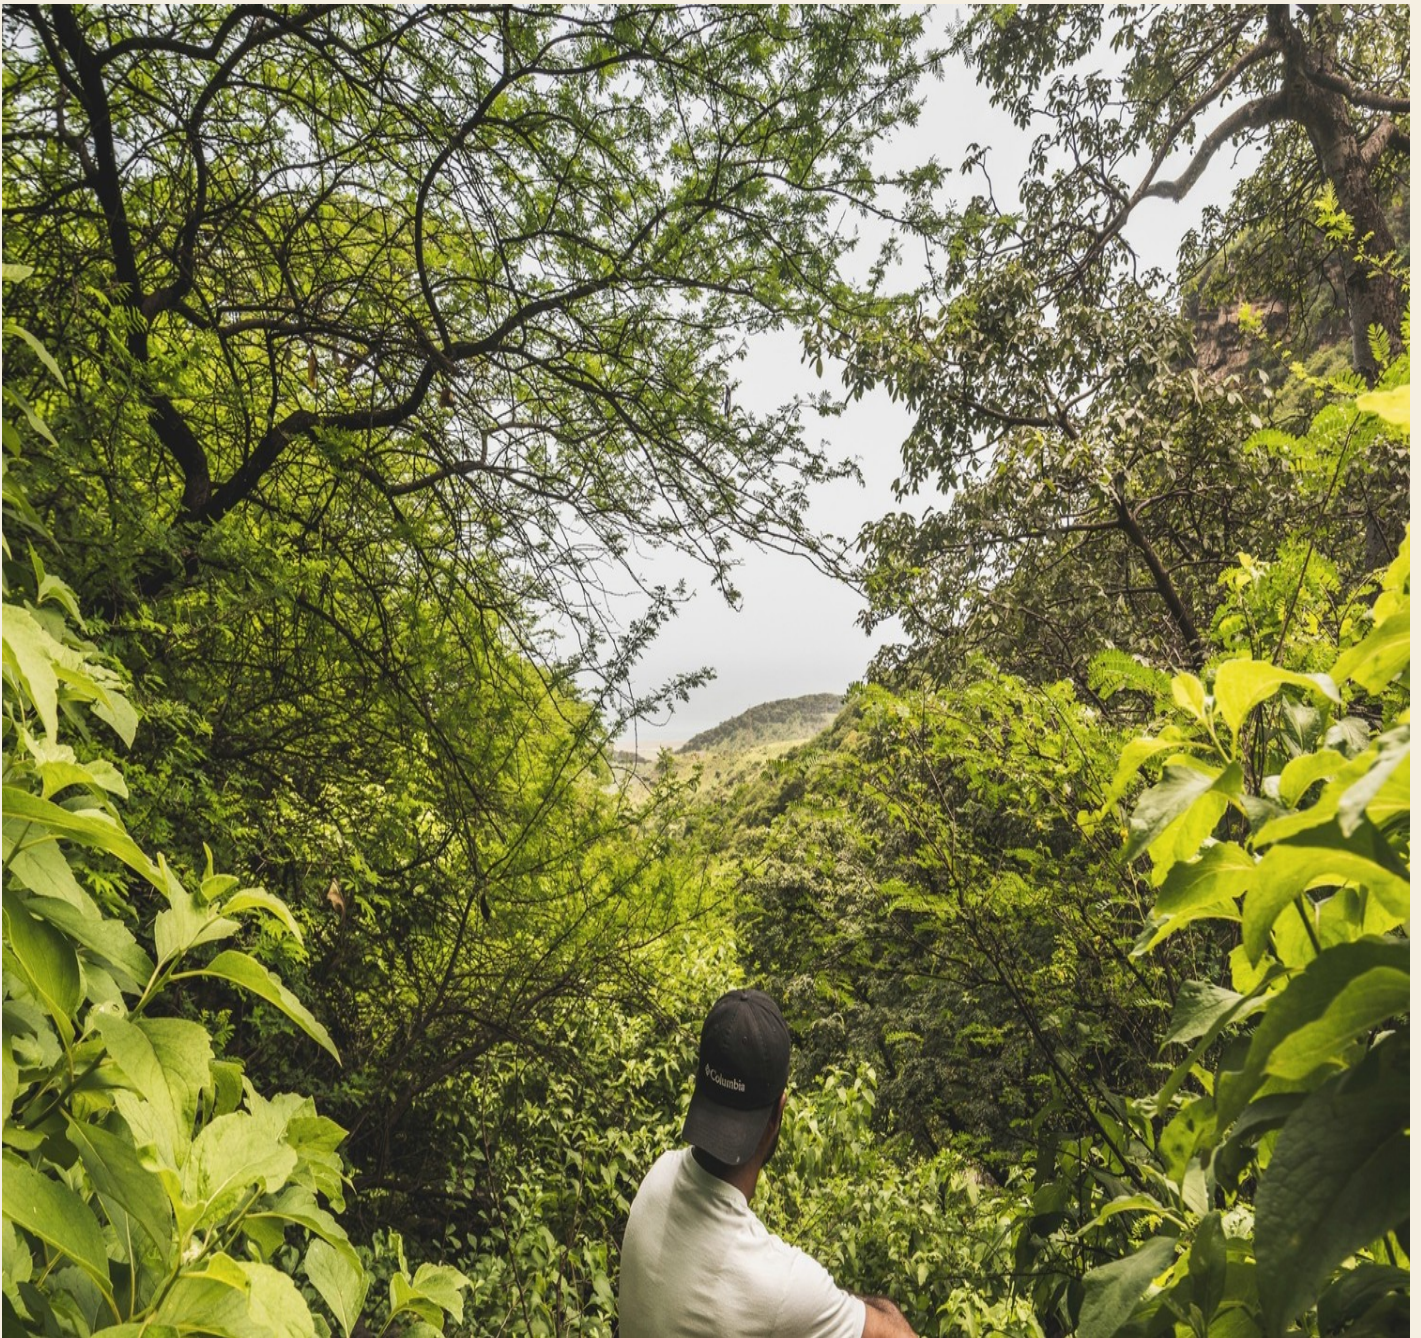

day six

life on samhan

thursday 1st

Camp in the clouds

A day full of mountain and off-road exploration. We start with Ayn Hasheer, then continue towards the famous anti-gravity point for a quick stop and some classic Salalah road-trip fun. From there, we explore Tawi Atair, one of Dhofar's most dramatic sinkholes, before spending time wadi exploring and moving through the mountain landscapes of the east. The day ends high in Jabal Samhan (home of some of last remaining Arabian leopards) where we set up camp in the mountains for one of the most memorable nights of the trip.

ROUTE CHAPTER

DAY SEVEN / EIGHT / THE FRANKINCENSE

JOURNEY NOTES / 11

day seven

frankincense rd.

friday 2nd

After a night in the mountains, we shift from nature into history and coastal culture. We visit Sumhuram, the ancient frankincense port near Khor Rori, and explore the ruins that connect Dhofar to Oman's historic frankincense trade.

From there, we continue to Mirbat, a coastal town known for its old houses, fort, harbour, and slower pace. After lunch and a relaxed walk around Mirbat, we head back towards Salalah for the final night of the trip. This gives the group a chance to shower, reset, and enjoy one last evening in the city.

day eight

final mishli

saturday 3rd

The final day is kept flexible and relaxed.

We start with a slow morning in Salalah, grab one last round of Omani Mishli, and visit the souq for frankincense, local products, gifts, and any final shopping. The crew can depart at any time during the day from Salalah International Airport.

Trip ends. Hugs, DMs, promises to visit again.

The journey ends where it began, but Janoob stays with you long after the flight takes off.
